Though people may promise to change things, it is the third person of the Holy Trinity that creates real change through the reinvigoration and renewal of hearts, Pope Francis said on Pentecost Sunday.

"Plenty of people promise change, new beginnings, prodigious renewals, but experience teaches us that no earthly attempt to change reality can ever completely satisfy the human heart," the pope said May 20.

"Yet the change that the Spirit brings is different. It does not revolutionize life around us, but changes our hearts."

This change, Francis continued, does not take away all of our problems, but "liberates us within so that we can face them. It does not give us everything at once, but makes us press on confidently, never growing weary of life. The Spirit keeps our hearts young."

Speaking during Mass in St. Peter's Basilica for the Solemnity of Pentecost, Pope Francis noted that when Catholics want to bring about real change in their lives, they should pray to the Holy Spirit.

"Who among us does not need a change? Particularly when we are downcast, wearied by life's burdens, oppressed by our own weakness, at those times when it is hard to keep going and loving seems impossible," the pope said. In those moments, people need a powerful "jolt" or "reinvigoration" of the Spirit, he stated, pointing out how in the creed, Catholics profess that the Holy Spirit is the "giver of life."

"How good it would be for us each day to feel this jolt of life!" he encouraged. "To say when we wake up each morning: 'Come, Holy Spirit, come into my heart, come into my day.'"

Just as wind brings change to the environment – "warmth when it is cold, cool when it is hot" – the Holy Spirit, "on a very different level, does the same."

"He is the divine force that changes the world," Francis stated.

Reflecting on the Acts of the Apostles, and how the power of the Holy Spirit sent the disciples to preach and convert pagans in different lands, including Philip who was sent "from Jerusalem to Gaza," the pope exclaimed: "How heartrending that name [Gaza] sounds to us today! May the Spirit change hearts and situations and bring peace to the Holy Land."

After Mass, Pope Francis led the Regina Coeli in St. Peter's Square, where he also prayed for Jerusalem, saying he was spiritually united to a prayer vigil which took place May 19 in Jerusalem for Jews, Christians, and Muslims.

"Today we continue to invoke the Holy Spirit to inspire the will and gestures of dialogue and reconciliation in the Holy Land and Middle East," he said.

Friday June 1 and Saturday June 2, Encounter Ministries will offer a "School of Healing" at St. Peter Church in Lincoln. The weekend will also include a healing service at 6:30 p.m. June 2 that will be free and open to the public.

Registration for the School of Healing is open now at encounterministries.us and costs $55. So far, 90 people have already registered for the event.

The weekend includes an evening session June 1 from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. and a full day of activities the next day including more sessions. The healing service on Saturday evening is an evangelization event in which Catholics are encouraged to invite non-Catholics, even unbelievers, who desire physical healing. "God will make His loving, healing presence known in a powerful way," Father Doty said. "When you see miracles happening, you know it's Jesus who is doing it."

The healing service will consist of Exposition, praise and worship and prayers for healing led by Father Mathias Thelen. Father Thelen is the senior leader of Encounter Ministries and has led many healing services where, according to the ministry, "signs, wonders, miracles and the power of the Spirit manifesting are common and life-changing."

Father Mathias's work with Encounter Ministries was featured in Maura Smith's documentary "Fearless," and it was in watching this documentary that the Lincoln Equipping Team decided to reach out to Encounter Ministries last year to plan the event.
